Art Proposal for the Aquatic Park Sculpture Project

Forma Studio is pleased to present our proposal, "Pageant of Land and Sea," to the public art opportunity for Berkeley's Aquatic Park. We consider this project an ideal opportunity to engage the community in a dialogue about the history and future of Aquatic Park.

"Pageant of Land and Sea" is a collection of public art that will tell the story of the site's history and transform it into a place of gathering and celebration. The project is a collaboration between the City of Berkeley and FORMA studio, and it will be realized in a series of artworks that will be placed along the perimeter of the park.

The first piece in the series is "By the Table of the Land First Touched," which is a collection of poems that will inform park-goers of the history of the shore and the people who lived there. The title references the early history of the City prior to the creation of the Eastshore Freeway and Aquatic Park.

The second artwork in the series, "A New Sun Rises," creates a large-scale iconic image that will serve as a Gateway to Aquatic Park. It references the early history of the City prior to the creation of the Eastshore Freeway and Aquatic Park.

The third piece in the series, "A Song of Wind and Sea," is an homage to the history and celebrates the natural beauty of Aquatic Park. It will be installed at a central location in the park and will feature a series of integrated sculptures and elements.

The fourth and final piece in the series, "This was the Shore," will be installed near the park's western entrance and will feature a series of integrated sculptures and elements.

The pieces will be made of high-quality materials and will be designed to last for many years. They will be installed on a series of platforms that will allow them to be viewed from various angles.

The project will be realized in a series of artworks that will be placed along the perimeter of the park and will be designed to interact with the landscape and the park's visitors.

We believe that this project will be an important contribution to the community and will help to tell the story of Berkeley's past and present.

We thank you for your consideration.
